Reykjavík, 27 October 2020

Dear Jón Atli,

I am writing in reference to the Institution-Wide Review of the University of Iceland in the second cycle of the Quality Enhancement Framework for Icelandic Higher Education, in particular the dates of the Review site visit.

In our virtual meeting of 25 September, we discussed possible dates for the review, as well as options of conducting the site visit on site or online. In that meeting, it was clear that the University of Iceland prefers an on-site review in May of 2021. As agreed during the call, the Review Team will be able to visit Iceland and conduct the review on site. If that is not possible due to travel restrictions or other concerns related to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Review will be conducted online.

After consulting with the Review Team and the Board, I am happy to confirm that the Review has been scheduled for 3-7 May 2021. All Review Team members, except one, have signalled their availability for those dates and their willingness to participate in an online review if needed. We will replace the member who cannot attend on those dates and keep you informed of further developments.

The Board Secretariat remains at your disposal should you have any questions about this letter.

Yours sincerely,

Andrée Sursock
Chair
Quality Board for Icelandic Higher Education
